Manx Lullaby (Arrane ny Clean)

Manx Folk Song, arr. Lori-Anne Dolloff

This is a traditional Gaelic style song in Manx Gaelic, similar to the Gaelic spoken in Ireland or Scotland. Many Manx folk songs often refer to folkloric symbols such as birds. “Horo hi ri ri” (horo hee ree ree) is a cooing sound meant to a restless child. “Cadul gu lo” (cajoolgoo low) means “sleep on”.

Things I Learned From A Cow

Traditional African Song, arr. John Englert

Thulalila Lele is a traditional South African song and is commonly translated as “The Lord is coming.” It is a spiritual cry to God and asks the question “When Christ comes, what will we tell Him about our life?”

Kaki Lambe

Traditional Senegal, arr. Brian Tate

This song is an invocation to Kaki Lambe, the masked father of destiny, who appears from the forest to revitalize and heal the community. It is often sung and danced during the harvesting of rice. “Kecombe” means “come to me/us”.

Eighth Grade Chorus

Musica, die ganz lieblich Kunst

Johannes Jeep (1582-1644)

GERMAN

*Musica, die ganz lieblich Kunst,
Ist ehrenwert zu halten,
Hat billig allenthalben Gunst,
Bei Jungen und bei Alten.
Sie frischt das Herz,
Weichs leidet Schmerz,
Tut all Unmut vertreiben,
Läßt traurig niemand bleiben.*

ENGLISH

*Music, the most lovely art,
Is to be kept honorable,
And has inexpensive favor everywhere,
By young and old alike.
It refreshes the heart,
Eases pain,
Drives out all displeasure,
And allows no one to remain sad.*

Amezaliwa Tushangilie!

This song is in the Kiswahili language. The words “Laleyo”, “O”, “Ha! iya ha! ha!”, “Hoyia”, Hoyie”, “Leyio”, and “Hey” are just chants. “Mwokozi Amezaliwa Kazaliwa Tushangilie” translate to “The Savior is born. Let us rejoice and celebrate!”
